One in eleven elderly adults living alone faced food insecurity in 2019.

A Feeding America report found that seniors who used food assistance services preferred fresh produce and protein. They also sought simple, ready-to-eat items such as canned soup and cereal.

Donate foods that are low in salt and sugar.